Aldus® SuperPaint® 3.5

System Requirements and Installation Card

System Requirements

Recommended system: Macintosh SE/30, PowerBook family (except PowerBook 100), Classic II, LC family, II family, Performa family, or Quadra family; 4MB of RAM; a hard disk; System 6.0.5 or later. 32-bit QuickDraw is required for color documents when running under systems earlier than 7.0. The QuickTime extension is required to use QuickTime.

Minimum system: Macintosh Plus, SE, Classic, Portable, or PowerBook 100; a hard disk; System 6.0.5 or later; 2MB of RAM (4MB is required to run under System 7.0 or later).

Large, 32-bit documents may require additional RAM for satisfactory performance.

Installation Instructions

SuperPaint and its associated files are provided in compressed format on four disks. None of the files are usable until you decompress them with the Installer. To install all the files, you'll need about 7 MB of hard disk space for color, or about 6 MB for black-and-white.

You can install SuperPaint on your hard disk with all its associated files (the Easy Install option), or customize installation by choosing only selected files (the Customize option).

Note: We recommend that you use the Easy Install option when you first install SuperPaint. Use Customize when you need to reinstall individual files, or know you need only some of the SuperPaint files.

If you have purchased SuperPaint for the first time, your installation will allow you to easily register your copy of the program using the on-screen registration. See New Users on page 3.

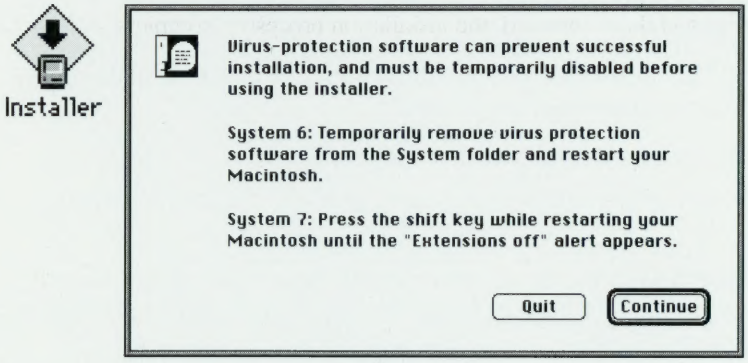
Note: Before installing SuperPaint, please be sure to turn off any virus protection software and quit any active applications.

Easy Install

To install SuperPaint 3.5:

1. Insert the disk labeled "Disk 1" into your floppy drive.
2. Double-click the Installer icon to run the Installer program.

   A dialog box appears, reminding you to turn off any virus protection.



Installer
Virus-protection software can prevent successful installation, and must be temporarily disabled before using the installer.
System 6: Temporarily remove virus protection software from the System folder and restart your Macintosh.
System 7: Press the shift key while restarting your Macintosh until the "Extensions off" alert appears.

Continue

   If you have virus protection and have not turned it off, follow the dialog box instructions, then click Quit to quit the Installer and return to the Desktop. Restart your computer without virus protection and begin the installation process again.

3. If you have already turned off your virus protection, click Continue.

   The main Easy Install dialog box appears, where you can choose to install SuperPaint with all its associated files, or customize installation by choosing only selected files.

4. Click Switch Disk to select another disk if you want to install SuperPaint on a disk other than the startup disk.

5. Click Install to proceed with the installation of all the files onto your hard disk.

   If other applications are running, a dialog box appears notifying you that installation cannot take place without quitting the applications. Click Continue if you want to automatically quit all other running applications and proceed with installation.

   If there is not enough disk space for installation, a dialog box appears notifying you that you need more disk space. Click OK, then free up more disk space and begin the installation process again.

6. Insert disks as prompted.

   When each of the disks has been read and decompressed, the installation process is complete. A folder called "Aldus SuperPaint 3.5" containing the SuperPaint application and all associated files will have been created on your hard disk.

New Users

If you are a new SuperPaint user, the installation process is the same as above, with one slight difference: we've made registering your program as easy as possible by providing you the opportunity to register your program on-screen during installation. As you install SuperPaint, you are presented with a series of registration dialog boxes. If you are connected to a printer, simply enter the information, then click Print to print out the registration form on the spot. We've even provided a postage-paid envelope to use to send in your printed registration. (There is also a registration card in the box.)

If you prefer to print the registration file at another time, click Save to disk. When you click Save to disk, a SuperPaint PICT file, "SuperPaint 3.5 Registration," is saved in the SuperPaint folder or wherever you've specified. Double-click this file to open the document, where you can print it out from within SuperPaint.

We encourage you to send in your SuperPaint registration. As a registered user, you're entitled to free technical support, special prices on future upgrades, and special offers for other Aldus products.

Customized Installation

If you prefer to install only some of the files contained on the four installation disks, you can use the Customize option. For example, if you know you only need SuperPaint for black and white, you can choose to install only the group of files necessary for working in black and white.

To customize installation:

1. Insert the disk labeled "Disk 1" into your floppy drive.

2. Double-click the Installer icon to run the Installer program.

   A dialog box appears, reminding you to turn off any virus protection.

   If you have virus protection and have not turned it off, follow the dialog box instructions, then click Quit to quit the Installer and return to the Desktop. Restart your computer without virus protection and begin the installation process again.

3. If you have already turned off your virus protection, click Continue.

   The main Easy Install dialog box appears.

4. Click the Customize button.

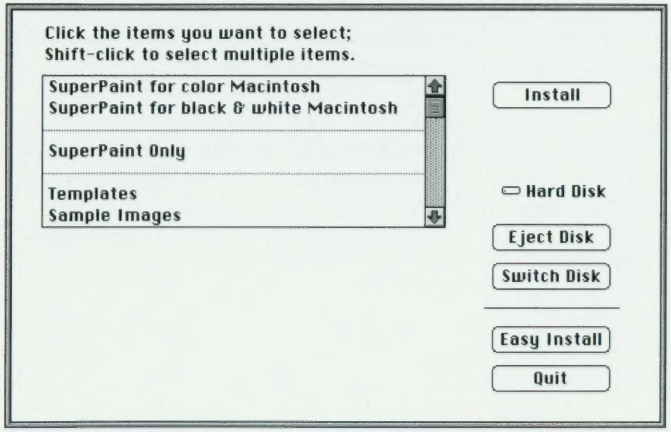
   A dialog box appears listing all files or file groups you can select.



The Customize dialog box.

5. Click the items you want to select. Shift-click to select multiple items.

   To view more items, use the scroll bar. If you click the file you want to install, the lower portion of the dialog box displays the contents.

6. Click Switch Disk to select another disk if you want to install SuperPaint on a disk other than the startup disk.

7. Click Install to proceed with the installation of the selected files onto your hard disk.

8. Insert disks as prompted.

   When each of the disks has been read and decompressed, the installation process is complete. A folder called "Aldus SuperPaint 3.5" containing the files you selected will have been created on your hard disk.

About the Installed Files

If you have installed all SuperPaint files, the "Aldus SuperPaint 3.5" folder should contain the following:

Aldus SuperPaint — The SuperPaint application.

SP Pouch — A folder containing the following folders: Brushes, Shapes, Menu Commands, Draw Textures, My Textures, B&W Paint Textures, Place Commands, Color Tables, Color Paint Textures, Help Files. In addition, the SP Pouch contains the SuperPaint Prefs file, which saves your settings (preferences) for the application.

Read Me folder — A folder containing the following Read Me files: News & Changes and Gallery Effects Read Me. In addition, the Read Me folder contains the TeachText application to enable you to read the files.

Sample Images folder — A folder containing two SuperPaint sample images for you to experiment with: Ars Gratia (B&W) and Pencil Tube (color).

Templates folder — A folder containing eight SuperPaint template documents: Brochure (inside), Brochure, FAX form, Memo, Party Invitation (inside), Party Invitation, Thank You Card, and Thank You Card (B&W). You can use the templates as-is, or customize them within SuperPaint to quickly design exciting documents.

Tutorial Files folder — A folder containing two sample images used in the SuperPaint tutorial: Dolphin and Sailing Ship.
